The Challenge

Monthly analysis statements are often complex, multi-page documents that include many coded or obscure line items. This makes it difficult to understand what services are being provided—and what you're being charged.

One document, one contact, one week.

Our experienced team can help you gain much needed clarity. We reduce unnecessary operating costs resulting from overpriced, unnecessary, and bundled fees by utilizing extensive banking experience and our proprietary national database.

Benchmarking

We leverage our proprietary national database to compare what you’re paying in bank fees to what similar organizations are being charged. With this data, we can negotiate with your banking vendor to reduce your fees.

Line Item Analysis

By using data from over 1,000 live analyses, this granular approach guarantees that each client subsidiary account (whether one or one thousand) is manually inspected for line item errors, unbundled fees, volume discrepancies, and overall account efficiency.

This complete review encompasses all aspects of your banking operations, not just price comparisons.

Industry Experience

Our team has deep, technical knowledge of the banking sector and their invoicing practices. We can analyze your bank fee charges and identify unnecessary and erroneous fees that could be eliminated.
